Global Construction company Vector Foiltec have opened its doors to its new Melbourne premises taking out a lease at the brand new Hallmarc Business Park Bayside at 328 Reserve Rd, Cheltenham.

Director Mr Angus Macleod said “a combination of facilities, location, cost and service had sealed his decision to move the company’s expanding operations to the Bayside suburb of Cheltenham. We had been operating our Melbourne Based division from a home office environment, we had outgrown the space and were in need of a more prominent profile”.

Vector Foiltec are specialists in design and construction, having invented the use of Texlon, the climate envelope, over twenty five years ago and have successfully developed and promoted the use of this innovative technology worldwide.

The construction specialists have been part of many international projects including the Beijing Aquatic Centre, Melbourne’s Spencer Street Railway Station, Resort World Singapore, Eden Park Stadium in New Zealand as well as several new stadiums in New Zealand for the 2011 Rugby World Cup.

Mr Macleod said “the companies move to Hallmarc Business Park Bayside had all staff very happy with our decision, we were thrilled to be able to find such a premises in the Bayside area that was ideally suitable, we all live locally and needed a premises that offered the convenience of minimal travel time to and from the office”.

“We chose the Business Park after a long search within the Bayside area, we had specific requirements that Hallmarc were able to facilitate, and having the advantage of an in-house architect, our fit out and requirements were met in a one-stop shop scenario. The Business Park units are modern, high quality premises that offered us the combination of office/showroom/warehouse thus catering for our business needs now and well into the future”.

“We are very excited with our move to Bayside Business Park as it will serve as our first Australasian head office” said Mr Macleod, “Its great to finally have such an attractive base for our Melbourne headquarters “. Since establishing overseas in 1987, Vector Foiltec employ some 300 staff worldwide and are a 50% Australian owned company with the other 50% being owned out of Europe.

Vector Foiltec have moved into its 152sqm office/showroom space in the 44 unit complex and are the 6th tenant to call the high end business park home.
