Property for Landlords with Geoff O'Reilly –
Southern Highlands Property Press –
22nd April 2009

Leading the way ...

Highlands Property is the only local member of the Leading Property Managers of Australia, a national association of businesses that have property management as their main (or only) business.

The LPMA holds a major annual conference for 200+ delegates and issues eight awards to members for excellence. Highlands Property was nominated for three awards, was a finalist in all three, and won two of them.

We were a finalist for excellence in customer service, and the winner of the award for best website for property management. Check out why by going to www.highlandsproperty.com.au

Most importantly the winner of the key award for an individual was Highlands Property licensee Kate Johnson. This is just reward for Kate's 19 years of dedicated service to thousands and thousands of Southern Highlands' landlords and tenants, and her leadership of the team of 10 property managers at Highlands Property.

Because property management is the core business at Highlands Property, we have been able to assemble more than the usual quality and quantity of skilled people and technical resources and apply them to delivering many services that are quite unique for Highlands landlords.

So if you are frustrated with the process of managing your own investment property in these difficult times, and would like to take advantage of our national award winning customer service, call Peter Wakeling, or Kate or me today!
